

The two boards above may not still be in the display. Each contains a dropped pattern on one side of the board. Previous configuration sheets recommended leaving in the boards, but that may not have happened.